

Business Visitors to Canada

Date: March 22, 2011

Original Newsletter(s) this article was published in: Employment Notes: March 2011

HR professionals are frequently asked whether a foreign national, who seeks to enter Canada for the purpose of performing a specific task on behalf of their Canadian company, will require a work permit. Although this question appears simple enough, it requires a detailed analysis of the relevant law.