EDUCATION

- University of Windsor

Alicia is a second-year law student at Windsor University Faculty of Law. She previously graduated with honours from the University of Guelph Humber with a Bachelor of Business Administration, specializing in International Business. Prior to law school, Alicia worked for one of Canada's premier financial services firms as a member of their human resources team.

Alicia has always had a passion for women's advocacy, as evidenced by her participation in the Women in Law, LEAF, and Amnesty International chapters at Windsor Law. She is also a peer mentor to incoming students. During her first year of law school, she was recognized for her strong oral advocacy and mooted abilities, which earned her distinction from her professors.

In her spare time, Alicia is an avid reader, with a personal goal of reading one book per week. She also enjoys spending time with her dog, Gus, and attending games for her favourite team, the Toronto Blue Jays.
